Holiday Dinner – Dec. 17, 6 PM

Please join us for our traditional holiday dinner. Entertainment will be provided, and the children will again decorate the tree and collect toiletries for the homeless. Please bring an UNWRAPPED item such as toothpaste or toothbrush, socks, etc. for the children to collect. We hope you will join us for this lovely evening as we again gather together to celebrate the holidays.

$20 per person. See Catherine Gallaher to sign up.

Hanukkah Breakfast – Dec. 18, 9:30 AM in the Social Hall.

Come together and enjoy a traditional breakfast and festivities. If you wish to assist with the breakfast PLEASE contact Reverend Jon Dobrer.

Christmas Eve Service – Dec. 24, 6 PM

Start the holidays with this festive service. Come sing and listen to your favorite carols. The Reverend Jon Dobrer will conduct the service. For this joyous service please bring your friends and family to celebrate the season. If you have a small battery operated candle (or a real candle in a container) please bring it with you.

Christmas Day Pot Luck

Come join us for a Christmas Day brunch at 10:30 AM in the Social Hall. Sign up sheet for your brunch item will be circulated on Sundays. Come bring yourself, your kids and some games to play (kids can bring games, too!!) No childcare--we will all care for one another on this special day and morning of fellowship together.

Membership Drive Continues

The membership drive continues through Dec. 11. The purpose of this drive is to help recent guests and others who are not members of our church to better understand who we are, what we do, and the advantages of becoming members. Rev. Dobrer's sermons will be keyed to Unitarian Universalism in general – and to our church in particular. On these Sundays, Rev. Dobrer and key members of our church will have a corner discussion after our service for newer people to get information and get questions answered about membership. Anyone interested in this discussion, please attend. If you have friends or relatives who you think might be interested in what our church has to offer them, make it a point to invite them to attend with you on one of these Sundays.

Out of My Mind: Out of My Mind and Heart ©2005 Jonathan Dobrer

No, the title is not a mistake. I want to talk to you out of my mind and my heart and thank you for being such an amazing, sustaining and wonderful community. Even while knowing what you do for each other and for the larger world, it is so good personally to experience your caring and good will.

I am still aglow from our weekend at de Benneville. Yes, I know that it has taken far too long to get me up there. In fact, I had not seen our camp for nearly 18 years. I was very impressed by all of the good changes, the refurbished cabins, the luxurious, (for mountain camp) Craig's Cabin, the redone coffee house and the remarkable food. (No weasel words. Let me be clear, the food was remarkable for being GOOD!)

I got there early and had the pleasure of watching our group assemble. People were so happy (and relieved, I suspect, at being off the road). Everyone greeted everyone else as if we had not seen each other for months. There was a palpable joy in the air and an eager sense of anticipation of the weekend. I think that no one was disappointed.

The Chalice Congregation started assembling a bit later than we...but then, they had farther to go. While there was some self-selection at the first dinner, by the end of the weekend we were all well integrated, by congregation and by age. Wherever we sat, we knew we were with friends. Quite wonderful!

Kids laughed, sang and played musical instruments. There were crafts for all ages. Thank you, Liz, for your creativity with both kids and adults. We looked through a telescope at Mars and the full moon. Thank you, Susan, for doing all the hard work of sign ups, registration and room assignments. Thank you, Marlies, for leading the workshop on Covenant Groups and establishing, so seemingly easily, such a safe and trusting environment. Thank you, Dick, for your boundless energy and enthusiasm. Your passion for de Benneville is more contagious than the bird flu—and a lot better for us all. Thank you, Judi and Mighty Choir, for adding immeasurably to our wonderful outdoor worship experience. There is no better place in the world to deliver a sermon about Nature than in those glorious woods—and on a 75-degree day in mid-November. Wow!

As some of you may know I was not in top physical form. Though my back has done a great job of healing and I had no discomfort at all, my foot decided to blow up with the gout. So, there I was at night with a sweatshirt, a leather coat and gloves and sandals! I guess there is a kind of religious tradition, but it still felt funny. Funnier still were the meds to treat my gout. Steroids. There goes my once promising Olympic career. Even Major League Baseball seems out of the question as I join the pumped up. Unfortunately, I do not enjoy the side effects of steroids and had to work to stay integrated. Everyone showed me tremendous understanding and gave me very loving support. I felt very cared for. I am deeply grateful, but, by now, should not be surprised. That is who you are.

Our UU community is really quite special and that is why we are conducting a membership drive over the next several weeks. It is not that we don't welcome new people every week, but now we have a series of programs designed with the needs of new people and visitors particularly in mind. We are running this program because we believe that growth is intentional and comes from the willingness to share and an enthusiasm for what we have.

Everything I have experienced personally from you, what I have received and what I have observed convinces me that ours is a very special place, where we really do make service our prayer and have something important to share with others. Our growth, as with love, is not about what we need to get, but what we have to give. I know what we give and can give. This is a good season to share with our friends. Remember, to be a UU, you do not have to give up your religion, your traditions or even your party affiliation. All we give up is our intolerance and the idea that there is only one way.

Indeed, maybe we should be The Diversitarians!

President's Message

Wow, awesome, fantastic, understanding, community....some of the words expressed during the service up in the glorious mountains at our Camp de Benneville Pines retreat. I'll say!!! It was by all accounts an incredible, wondrous weekend attended by the largest crowd from UUCF and the Chalice congregation from Escondido EVER!! Fun, fellowship, workshops, folk dancing, yoga, group singing of popular tunes with guitarists from Chalice and UUCF, hikes, crafts, fireside chats and food, food food! Some dozed on the sofa with the roaring fire next to them in the ENORMOUS fireplace. (The dozing ones were NOT children of course--these we just relaxed adults resting after and during activities.) All of the above equaled the best kind of community possible.

Special thanks go out to all of you who attended and to those who helped put the programs and activities together. It would NOT have been the same without you. A very special thank you to Susan Tschabrun for all the work she did this year and every year to make this event happen, and to Jon Dobrer for being with us over this very special weekend. His presence, I believe, enriched the experience.

Lorraine Rothman and I went to a workshop on Covenant groups (Small Group Ministries or SGMs) some weeks back and really got a lot from this experience. (See Lorraine's article on this topic for more details.) The only thing I have to add is how important I think it is to evaluate this kind of program for our church since is a great way to build community and membership. One of the group meetings at de Benneville was modeled after the SGM and it worked well. It was a "Wisdom Circle", with the topic "Can we (men and women) all get along?" Attendees got a small taste of what it would be like to meet and be together in this important way. There was good feedback about this group and hopefully these people will relay the general feeling of being in this kind of safe, supportive and comfortable environment. (The board has approved examining and exploring SGMs for our congregation.)

Another area the board is working on is a part time paid administrator. While we have wonderful people doing many of the administrative jobs, we need one person overseeing and doing some of these tasks for continuity and to relieve the volunteers to do other things and prevent burnout.

We will complete our membership drive over the next two Sundays. Hopefully this has been an interesting time for visitors and people who are interested in membership in this wonderful, thriving community. I believe we have a lot to offer and I hope there are now more people who wish to join us and offer their ideas, talents, treasure and many gifts to UUCF, which will continue to enrich our lives within our community and the larger world.

This last month has been a very exciting time for me personally. As one of the previous UUCF presidents told me after I became president--"You will have a different view of the congregation as president." I wasn't exactly sure what they meant or try to get them to explain exactly what they meant, but they were right. It is a different perspective and one of privilege and honor. I am thrilled to have been given this opportunity to have this overview of our congregation and see how it works, how the congregants love and challenge one another. The support has been incredible, the knowledge imparted by others invaluable, and the generosity of this congregation and its commitment to all areas of this congregation miraculous.

Bless all of you for all you do for one another and the world outside of UUCF. Merry Christmas, Happy Hanukkah, Happy Kwanzaa and Happy New Year!!!

"Gratitude unlocks the fullness of life. It turns what we have into enough, and more. It turns denial into acceptance, chaos to order, confusion to clarity. It can turn a meal into a feast, a house into a home, a stranger into a friend. Gratitude makes sense of our past, brings peace for today, and creates a vision for tomorrow." - Melody Beattie

Service Auction - February 11, 2006

A VERY FUN FUNDRAISER THAT YOU DON'T WANT TO MISS

February 11th is just around the corner and that means that we are working hard now to get everything ready for the UUCF yearly Service Auction. As you know this is the biggest fundraiser of the year. There is still a lot to be done and I am currently looking for volunteers to help on the night of the auction. We need people to work at the door, to bartend, to help with set up, to collect money, to record bids, just to mention a few of the available jobs. So since I know you plan to attend anyway, why not volunteer to help out that night?

We will soon be passing out packets to help you solicit business donations from the community. This is an easy way for you to make a contribution to the service auction without spending any of your own money. The next time you visit your favorite merchant, ask them if they would like to donate a gift certificate. You never know if someone will donate unless you ask. Look for the packets at the beginning of this month and take them with you when you do your holiday shopping. If you have questions or need an extra packet, please contact Dana Bianco. Dana is the wonderful lady who has agreed to be in charge of all the business donations for this auction.

Most of you have probably already received a phone call from one of the members of our member donation committee to ask you what you would like to contribute to the auction this year. We need to have all the donations in by the middle of January, so put your thinking caps on NOW. We have had so many wonderful services offered for auction in the past and I am hoping that they will all be repeated again this year. But coming up with new ideas is what makes the auction fun. So give it some thought and BE CREATIVE. Just about anything goes.

But even with excellent donations available, the auction will not be a success unless EVERYONE attends. One of the reasons we made more money last year than ever before was because we had over 100 people in attendance. Remember, you can't fill your social calendar for next year if you aren't there. If your funds are limited, don't let that be a reason to stay home. There will be items offered at all price levels. This year we are adding a new area to the auction that we are calling the "UU Boutique". Here you will be able to buy all kinds of interesting low priced items without the bother of bidding.

So plan to attend, contribute a service, and get a business donation. This is how you can make a difference for our Church and help with the biggest fundraiser of the year.

Donnette Gultinan
Service Auction Chairperson

Welcome New Members

Martin and Caryn Mason

Martin teaches at Mt. San Antonio College and Caryn stays home with their daughter, Katie, 2. They both enjoy playing bridge and Magic (another card game). As for their other likes, it's arguable that they are opposites in a great deal of these. He enjoys fixing-up houses and hanging out at their cabin in Mt. Baldy. She enjoys aerobics and talking with friends. He likes to read Sci-Fi. She likes to read biographies. He likes spicy food, but she doesn't like to sweat after a meal. Fortunately they both like each other and they both have a favorite: Katie, who chirps sentences, sings boldly, and dances at the faintest rhythm.

As a child, Martin attended the Long Beach UU Church, where he has fond memories of the RE program. He grew up in Rossmoor, Orange County, California. During graduate school (UCR high energy physics) he met Caryn Remington (UCR Biology) in the Outdoor Club. After college, they moved to Palm Desert where Martin taught physics at College of the Desert in Palm Desert and Caryn taught grade school science and math. They were married by Ken McLean, a wonderful UU minister in Palm Desert.

Summary* of November Board Meeting

Attendance: Lou Arnwine, Tim Blaine, Carolyn Champagne, Will Nettleship, Mary Rhodes, Lorraine Rothman, Dennis Spiro, Marlies Worley

Minutes and treasury reports approved.

Unfinished Business: The yearly calendar was evaluated and all areas of church are on track at this time. We will have a potluck brunch on Christmas day.

Reports: Board Liaisons/responsibilities: Marlies Worley reported that the Service Auction plans were already underway headed by Donnette Gultinan. Program/Worship-- things going well and nothing new. Volunteer Coordinator-- nothing new. Lou Arnwine reported that UUSC "Guest at Your Table" was coming on Nov. 20. Social action --a ramp is being constructed for congregant who needed a new ramp installed at her home for access (this has been completed). Our service to the homeless will begin on Dec. 7 this year. Temple liaison-- nothing new. Tim Blaine reported nothing new with compensation. Finance/investments--church brokerage account is being transferred from Charles Schwab to Vanguard. Less cost in general with Vanguard. Pledge com.-Judy Sterling and Doug Schneider are co-chairs and nothing new here. Mary Rhodes reported there was nothing new with historian. Circle suppers always need new hosts and everything is going well with communications. Dennis Spiro reported that all is well with treasury. Outreach--no committee at this time. Adult RE-Last Sunday an excellent program was presented by Bill Pryor. Membership/visitor records-We've been having quite a few new visitors and new members. On Dec. 4th we will be having membership recognition and newcomers orientation. Will Nettleship reported nothing new with long term facility planning and scrip is doing fine. RE is doing well and netted $317 at UNICEF collection on Halloween. Lorraine Rothman reported nothing new with planned giving. Music/choir--expenses are up a bit since there are more members of the choir (yea!) Carolyn Champagne reported that the social committee had plans underway for Holiday dinner. Nominating committee--will have election on Nov. 20 to elect nominees. Sunshine committee is doing well with Gwen Fyke chairing.

Small Group Ministries (covenant groups) was reported on by Lorraine Rothman and Marlies Worley. They had gone to workshop in Santa Monica and found this idea to be worth investigating. Each group would do a yearly social action project is one of the criteria for this program. (See Presidents message and Lorraine's article on this for more details.)

Phone issues: The church answering machine has been presenting many problems and we decided to go to voicemail. (This problem has become more complicated than initially thought and the process of what to do continues.)

Background checks for RE Staff and volunteers. Liz Heaton will come to next meeting and give us the details of what is involved in this process.

Compensation: We voted that our minister, minister of music, Co-treasurer, and DRE's will have annual evaluation on performance in terms of compensation.

Administrator: An ad hoc committee was put together to evaluate and decide on how to proceed to get a part time administrator.

We will not be having a December board meeting unless important issues arise.

Marlies J. Worley--President

Full board minutes available upon request*

Attention Newcomers to UUCF!

We will be conducting a Newcomers Orientation program before church service on Sunday, December 4. In the past these programs have been very popular with newcomers to our church as they get an opportunity meet with our minister, Rev. Jon Dobrer, in a congenial setting. You will be able to find out something about what our church is about, what it has to offer to you, and what we are doing in the larger community. The program will start at 9:15 AM with a continental breakfast followed by an informal meeting with the minister and church members who are responsible for some of our key activities.

We will be specifically inviting those who have visited our church for the first time during the past few months however the Newcomers Orientation program is also open to anyone who has not previously attended one. If you wish to come, please contact Jim Fyke to let us know how many will be attending with you and if you will be needing babysitting.

Social Action Committee

Please join UUCF social action on Wednesdays, starting December 7, through February, at the National Guard Armory/Emergency Cold Weather Shelter on Brookhurst, just south of the Fire Station on Valencia in Fullerton. All are welcome, but please be aware that it may not be a suitable experience for younger children, and they would require close supervision!

In addition to serviceable warm used clothing, which is always needed, volunteers interested in going above and beyond, could consider looking for a good deal, and purchasing and bringing a quantity of fresh fruit, which would be a welcome and healthy alternative to the starchy snacks usually provided to the homeless guests of the program.

Call Daniel Guy if you would like to participate. We meet in the Armory parking lot at 5 PM.

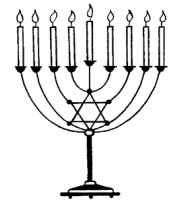

Holiday Greetings

*Happy Holidays to all our friends.

Entertainment Books 2006

Entertainment Books are still available at the discount price of $35. If you need a book for a holiday gift, call Al or Judi. Other U.S. cities are available from $20 to $40. A portion of the price you pay supports the activities of our church.

Small Group Ministries/Covenants Reported by Lorraine Rothman

So many mainstream magazines as well as religious magazines today are writing about how popular small group ministries/covenants are with church members, that this workshop for our UU churches was especially important. Many UU churches around our country are already enjoying these small groups programs.

In a nutshell—some groups come together as an “affinity group”, such as social action, writing, women’s groups, men’s groups, Buddhism, quilting. As we can see, UUCF already has some these kinds of church-sponsored groups. The difference is in the format that the groups follow. In the hour-long small group that I took part in, we followed some simple but very supportive and respectful rules of sharing. We had a facilitator who knew the basic rules and format so we had direction, as well. Everyone had an opportunity to share their ideas and opinions. Those who wanted to just listen could do just that. And the groups are purposely small, from 5 to 10 people.

An important aspect to small group ministries/covenants is that most congregations form their groups specifically to encourage participants’ spiritual explorations and depth. Even here the groups’ practices vary with comfortably wide latitude. Topics for a group’s discussion are decided on in various ways. Some groups chose topics on their own, wanting to talk about subjects particularly interesting or challenging to their group. Some groups will use existing curriculum developed by the UU Small Group Ministry Network—The UU group that has done the groundwork and is available for advice and help. Other groups may want to explore particular books and delve into them chapter by chapter. Another very popular format is for groups to explore a common theme coming from a recently delivered sermon.

These small groups can be very effective in helping new people--- and others of us who tend to get lost in the crowd--- integrate more comfortably in our UU church home.

Thank You Sunday Tasks Volunteers

It’s hard not to notice how beautifully set up our Sanctuary is each Sunday morning. Our beautiful banners are unfurled and in full view and the Chalice Table is set up with the addition of beautiful fresh cut flowers. After services as we move into the Social Hall, we are greeted with a table full of tasty refreshments to complement our coffee, tea and hot chocolate. The Social Hall has been set up earlier in the morning with our large posters that share on-going events for children and adults, announcements, happy times, and other various and sundry (and important) information. Then, lo and behold, this all comes down, gets put away for another week until we need it all again.

Our Sunday Tasks Volunteers are the responsible folks who make it all happen. To keep it well balanced, we, the Sunday Tasks Volunteers’ Schedulers, will be reaching out to newer members and congregants, and some of the folks who have been around a bit longer to give everyone who is willing and able a chance to share in these tasks. New volunteers are usually teamed with experienced people and we have written instructions, as well. We’ll be contacting people after December’s holidays. In the meantime, if you would like to join this dedicated group and just can’t wait until after the holidays, contact Lorraine Rothman at

New Year’s Morning

For the hale and the hearty and for those who will go to bed early New Year’s Eve we will have a pancake breakfast on New Year’s morning. Our speaker is the Reverend Mike Nickolaus who spoke to us earlier this year. Mike is a motivational speaker who was well received on his last visit with a standing ovation from the congregation at the completion of his sermon. I am sure his sermon will start the year off with a bang.

A few good men (and women) are needed to make and serve the brunch. Contact Al Danzig to offer assistance.

Youth Religious Education

de Benneville Pines Weekend

Christina Garner led the kids in Saturday night entertainment in the Lodge.

Parents got to relax, too!

Children's Service

David Ferencz's youth service in November was about Thanksgiving and its history. Children learned that the Wampanoag tribe, which celebrated Thanksgiving with the Pilgrims, made smoothed coiled pottery decorated with incised lines around the rim. Following in the Wampanoag's tradition, children and teens created their own great pieces of coiled pottery.

Children Sing!

Gary Daniels will accompany our children on guitar as they perform "Edelweiss" on Sunday, December 4th. Please try to have you child at church at 10:15 AM that morning.

Thank you Volunteers!

Thank you to November's wonderful teachers. Our volunteer teachers are a vital part of the R.E. program and they touch our children in so many ways. So next time you see your child's teacher, please thank him or her for making your child's Sunday so special.

We also appreciate the special classroom help and snacks that members of our congregation provide. A special thank you to Barbara Keller who went above and beyond the call of duty to make sure her snack for the children arrived on Sunday despite an unexpected set back.

We still need your help. The R.E. program both relies on and benefits from adult participation. Please stop in downstairs if you'd like to help out. It's a great investment in our future church community.

Teen Talk Tuesdays 7 PM, Dec. 13 & 27

Jr. High teens are invited to come and share ideas/opinions on the 2nd and 4th Tuesdays of the month. These supervised evenings provide a safe environment for young people to have fun and discuss issues which concern them.
